

Sunnysoft introduces NaviPack Office – complex solution for mobile navigation and 'office in the car'.

NaviPack Office is a clever solution for all those who work outside in the field and appreciate saving their valuable time.

Prague, 11th September 2006 – NaviPack Office from Sunnysoft is an unique set especially for busy people who need to travel and work at the same time. The pack combines fully complete HP iPAQ 6915, handsfree set Brodit, navigation software iGO for East Europe and Kingston miniSD 1 GB. By launching this product, Sunnysoft has responded to increasing demand for more complete solutions in mobile communication. Navigation has become integral part of most of the newly selling PDAs in Czech Republic and its popularity is further rising also in connection with mobile phones. Swedish holders Brodit are the best possible accessory for this solution.

With fully equipped communicator HP iPAQ 6915, it means pocket PC and mobile phone at the same time you will have all important personal information (e-mails, calendar, contacts, tasks) always up to date and at hand! Thanks to integrated four band technology, there is no problem to get connected anywhere in the world. It will serve not only as small mobile office, but also as music player (MP3), picture and video viewer or even for playing games. Besides all that, another part is also integrated quality camera HP PhotoSmart able to record videos and with function for saving together with photos also the GPS position data from the place of recording.

Communication in car can smooth up handsfree set Brodit designed for fixed installation. Holders of this Swedish manufacturer are reliable accessory and their installation does not harm the dash-board.

Navigation software iGO is one of the best selling systems for East Europe with elaborated basic data up to house numbers. Adventurous Hungarian producer is constantly perfecting the coverage.

Jiří Strouhal, Sales business director says: „ Our customer very often choose navigation system while buying their PDA, and come afterwards to get other accessories. This set will give them, together with better price, solution which is reliable and also effective.“
