

Sunnysoft is certified HP partner in mobile solutions

HP Preferred Mobile Solutions Partner is title for those sales partners of HP that have the maximum knowledge in mobile solutions implementation in e.g. mobile e-mail, logistics management in field, data collection in field, customer needs research and navigation solutions.

Prague, 13th November 2006 - Sunnysoft, supplier of information and communication technologies has fulfilled all requirements set by HP company and has newly become the holder of prestigious certification HP Mobility – Smart Device Specialist.

This certificate transmits important information to clients such as that HP guarantees the quality of services provided by Sunnysoft that is one of the sellers of HP products and that Sunnysoft employees have the same knowledge and experience as the very own employees of HP. Thanks to that, clients can come to Sunnysoft and rely on the fact that they receive the same service as they would do from HP. The HP Preferred Partner status is being renewed every year, therefore the service provider must be approved again and again fulfill all conditions to reach HP standards to affirm it has the knowledge to handle HP products and its top technologies.

"The fact we have gained this certification is very significant as all requirements to do so are very strict and there are only few Czech IT companies who managed to receive it. I think it has to do with the fact we did in no way underestimate the whole process of preparation and our determination to be the best in our segment is very strong," says Martin Strouhal, Sunnysoft director.

„Partners do play essential role in how customers perceive HP and want to be sure their experience is exclusively positive one, which at the same time calls for strong resolution and involvement not only from us but also our partners," explained HP director Mark Hurd when addressing audience at Global Partner Summit where the Preferred Partner Program was launched.
